

Abstract

The invention relates to a method for the production of fiber composites and a fiber composite which is produced according to the method of the invention.